20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The Committee holds face-to-face meetings twice per year. Additional teleconferences may be scheduled as necessary; all meetings will be public per FACA. Members will be provided materials to review before each meeting and will be asked to provide their input at the meeting or in writing following it. Public comment will be gathered at meetings and through opportunities to provide written comment.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

The Energy Independence and Security Act (EISA), Section 494, outlines specific criteria for the membership of this Committee, including naming 10 Federal agencies that will be members and identifying several categories of experts to be included. The Office of Federal High-Performance Buildings conducts processes whereby it obtains recommendations and advice from experts inside and outside of GSA in order to identify the most qualified members who simultaneously fulfill the statutory requirements and provide useful and actionable advice on making the Federal buildings portfolio more efficient, healthy and sustainable. The Committee is effectively balanced by profession, sector, geographic region and gender.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

Estimated Number of Meetings per Year - approximately 2 times a year, or as called by the DFO.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

This Committee is required by the Energy and Independence Security Act (EISA), Section 494.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

Meetings will be open and would only be closed in accordance with the Government in the Sunshine Act.

Narrative Description

The Green Building Advisory Committee was established to provide expert advice on GSA’s Office of Federal High-Performance Buildings, in accordance with the Energy Independence and Security Act (EISA), Section 494. The Committee provides advice to the GSA Administrator to improve Federal buildings (assets, operations, use, and resilience) to enhance human health and performance, and safeguard social, economic, and environmental security. The Committee reviews the strategic approach, projects and activities of the Office in order to provide expertise and guidance on how the work of the Office may be better geared to ensure success in its government-wide high performance building mission.

What are the most significant program outcomes associated with this committee?

Checked if Applies

- Improvements to health or safety
- Trust in government
- Major policy changes
- Advance in scientific research
- Effective grant making
- Improved service delivery
- Increased customer satisfaction
- Implementation of laws or regulatory requirements
- Other

Outcome Comments

The Committee advises GSA on its Federal high performance building mission, which includes saving resources by reducing Federal building use of energy, water and materials, and enhancing agencies' performance by making Federal buildings more healthy and productive workplaces.

What are the cost savings associated with this committee?

- Cost Savings Other

Cost Savings Comments

Committee advice helps the Federal government implement policies and projects that save resources by reducing Federal building use of energy, water and materials, and enhance agency performance by making Federal buildings more healthy and productive workplaces.

What is the approximate Number of recommendations produced by this committee for the life of the committee?

48

Number of Recommendations Comments

Recommendations have been made regarding: health & wellness policies; increasing adoption of high performance building practices; power purchase agreements; energy use intensity metrics; high-performance leasing; building portfolio planning; net zero energy policy; social cost of carbon in portfolio decision making; daylighting policy; green building certification systems; green building progress and tracking; and implementation of the Federal Building Personnel Act.

What is the approximate Percentage of these recommendations that have been or will be Fully implemented by the agency?

% of Recommendations Fully Implemented Comments

GSA formed the Interagency Sustainability Working Group's Health & Wellness Group as a direct response to Committee recommendations, as well as incorporating the Committee's work on this topic into the SF Tool Health page. PBS is getting increasingly engaged with the Committee, promoting greater interaction, more grounded recommendations, and more clear opportunities for implementation (e.g., incorporation of Transportation EUI in PBS's Smart Location Calculator, participation on several Task Groups). Certain recommendations apply more to, or may be a better fit with, other agencies than GSA. Some recommendations are of a more general nature, making final implementation difficult to assess.

What is the approximate Percentage of these recommendations that have been or will be Partially implemented by the agency?

% of Recommendations Partially Implemented Comments

Recommendations are being incorporated in relevant GSA high performance building research, guidance and outreach projects, while OFHPB works with partners elsewhere in GSA and other agencies to pilot or implement ideas.

Does the agency provide the committee with feedback regarding actions taken to implement recommendations or advice offered?

Yes No Not Applicable

Agency Feedback Comments

GSA normally provides feedback at the two yearly meetings as well as through meeting minutes, which are posted online at <http://www.gsa.gov/portal/content/122159>.
