20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The purpose of the Council is to provide recommendations to the FCC to ensure optimal security, reliability and interoperability of communications systems, including telecommunications, media and public safety communications. The Council addresses specific issues as posed to it by the Commission. These issues are each assigned to a subcommittee or working group . The working groups are addressing the following issues through weekly meetings and will issue recommendations on: (1) A Transition Path to NG911; (2) A Comprehensive Re-imagining of Emergency Alerting; and (3) Network Reliability and Security Risk Reduction.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

Members were selected from among public safety agencies, consumer or community organizations or other non-profit entities, State and local governments, and the private sector to balance the expertise and viewpoints that are necessary to effectively address the issues to be considered.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

The Council is authorized to facilitate its work through informal subcommittees that may meet more frequently. Activities and recommendations of the informal subcommittees must be reported to the Council as a whole, which meets on a quarterly basis. These reports, as modified or ratified by the Council as a whole, will be included in the official record of the Council proceedings and reported to the Chairman of the Commission.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The Council is intended to provide the Commission with advise on the reliability and security of communications networks, including as it relates to telecommunications, media, and public safety communications. It provides a unique, open forum where parties with varying interests can work to arrive at recommendations for assuring optimal communications services in times of emergencies.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

Meetings will typically be open.
