20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The National Drinking Water Advisory Council (NDWAC) is a Federal Advisory Committee that supports EPA in performing its duties and responsibilities related to the national drinking water program. The Council was created on December 16, 1974, through a provision in the Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974. FY 2018: The Council did not meet.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

The National Drinking Water Advisory Council (NDWAC) is authorized under the Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA), which includes a provision on the composition of the membership of the Council as well. NDWAC is to have five (5) members from the general public, five (5) from interest groups and organizations and five (5) members from state and local interests. Included in the statute is a requirement that two (2) of the 15 members must represent the drinking water concerns of small drinking water systems. The Agency also seeks to ensure geographic diversity.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

In FY 2018, the Council did not meet. Since the enactment of the 1996 SDWA Amendments, NDWAC has provided indispensable input into EPA's standard setting, regulatory development, and program implementation activities mandated by the SDWA, as amended. As the EPA completes these statutory mandates, the NDWAC is working closely with EPA to develop and shape future efforts that will ensure the Nation's public health protection through safe drinking water.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

Early involvement of the Council provides an excellent forum for the EPA to discuss and receive stakeholder input on policy, regulatory, and program implementation issues/concerns. Moreover, the Council is an opportunity for fostering consensus advice and recommendations from a balanced and diverse group of experts in the drinking water community who may not reach agreement without working together within the structure of the NDWAC. To reach an appropriate position on difficult and controversial issues, the NDWAC organizes meetings so that all sides of an issue/concern are taken into consideration and recommendations reflect consensus.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

No meetings were closed or partially closed.
