20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The NIH Clinical Center Research Hospital Board (CCRHB) advises, consults with, and makes recommendations to the NIH Director and NIH Clinical Center (CC) Chief Executive Officer (CEO) on the CC's policies and procedures regarding hospital operations, safety and quality, regulatory compliance, clinical research, and hospital leadership performance oversight. The Board consists of external advisors who share data and expertise from leading institutions in healthcare and research as performance benchmarks.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

The Board consists of up to 14 non-federal members, including the chair, appointed by the NIH Director. The appointed members consist of authorities who are nationally recognized leaders in sectors related to the NIH Clinical Center's duties and authorities, including but not limited to research hospital administration/operations, clinical care, safety and quality, clinical and research compliance, or clinical research. Appointed members will be selected from the academic and private sector research community, as well as the general public. Membership includes 2 patient advocates.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

The Board met three times during this reporting period. The meetings are integral to assuring the CC continues to align itself with the current best practices and benchmarks in the community.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The NIH Clinical Center is the nation's premier research hospital. The Board's primary aim is to reinforce the CC's commitment to essential patient safety while continuing to add to its long list of extraordinary scientific accomplishments to improve health. The CCRHB was created to fortify a CC culture and practice of safety and quality throughout the organization, and to assure strong leadership for clinical care quality, oversight and compliance. These perspectives are key factors in membership selection and have allowed significant organizational priorities to be developed focused on safety and quality in CC operations and clinical care. Members are also selected to assure broad and diverse representation from the community.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

There were no closed or partially closed meetings in this reporting period. The charter addresses approval measures needed if closed sessions are warranted

Narrative Description

NIH's mission is to seek fundamental knowledge about the nature and behavior of living systems and the application of that knowledge to enhance health, lengthen life, and reduce illness and disability. NIH works toward that mission by: conducting research in its own laboratories; supporting the research of non-Federal scientists in universities, medical schools, hospitals, and research institutions throughout the country and abroad; helping in the training of research investigators; and fostering communication of medical and health sciences information. The NIH Clinical Center Research Hospital Board advises and consults with the NIH Director on the NIH Clinical Center's policies and procedures regarding hospital operations, safety and quality, and regulatory compliance.
