20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The Task Force on Research Specific to Pregnant Women and Lactating Women (PRGLAC) was established under section 2041 of the 21st Century Cures Act, P.L.114-255 to provide advice and guidance to the Secretary of Department of Health and Human Services regarding Federal activities related to identifying and addressing gaps in knowledge and research regarding safe and effective therapies for pregnant women and lactating women, including the development of such therapies and the collaboration on and coordination of such activities. The committee prepared and submitted to the HHS Secretary and Congress a report to correspond with the legislative requirements under the 21st Century Cures Act.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

The Task Force was composed of both Federal and non-Federal members. For FY21, the committee included 16 federal members and 8 non-federal members.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

The Task Force did not meet in FY 2021 and the committee terminated in March 2021. The last full Task Force meeting was held via Webinar in June 2020.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The 21st Century Cures Act established PRGLAC to advise the Secretary of Health and Human Services regarding gaps in knowledge and research on safe and effective therapies for pregnant women and lactating women. The committee is tasked with identifying these gaps and will report its findings back to the Secretary, the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions of the Senate, and the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives. The quality, scope, and balance of advice from this committee cannot be obtained from NIH staff or from other established source because the membership of the committee is constituted to meet the specific requirements mandated in legislation.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

Not Applicable

Narrative Description

NICHD conducts and supports research in the United States and throughout the world on fetal, infant and child development; maternal, child and family health; reproductive biology and population issues; and medical rehabilitation. Currently, insufficient information exists to guide the care and treatment of pregnant women in many areas. For instance, the safety, efficacy, and dosing of medications approved for the general population may not apply to pregnant or nursing women. PRGLAC reviewed current research on pregnancy and lactation, identifying ethical issues surrounding the inclusion of pregnant women and nursing mothers in clinical research, and chronicling the federal activities that focus on therapies for pregnant women and nursing mothers. This effort, resulted in a report to the HHS Secretary and to Congress, which included a focus on specific drugs, formulations, and other pharmacological factors that may affect health outcomes for pregnant women and nursing mothers and their children. PRGLAC also created an implementation plan for the recommendations listed in the report.
