20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

RTCA, Inc develops consensus and provides recommendations on aviation standards. These products serve as the basis for many FAA Technical Standard Orders and Advisory Circulars as well as a source of guidance for Government and Industry standards and investment decisions. RTCA seeks solutions to problems involving applied electronics, computers, and telecommunications to aeronautical operations and also develops recommended operational concepts. Over Sixty plenary meetings were held in FY 2009. The RTCA's Air Traffic Management Advisory Committee (ATMAC) and Special Committees are critical advisory and work forums utilized by the FAA's Chief Operating Officer (COO) and FAA in conducting the work of the agency and in collaborating with the aviation community. The Air Traffic Management Advisory Committee recommends consensus-based investment priorities aimed at improving safety, capacity and/or efficiency of the National Air Transportation System. Aviation operational requirements, coupled with anticipated availability of financial resources are fundamental criteria upon which ATM Advisory Committee deliberates and proposes recommendations.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

Membership is open to all organizations and individuals within the aviation community. FAA and other Government members of RTCA have no direct control over the selection of representatives from non-Government organizations who serve as technical experts on RTCA committees.

Participants serve on a voluntary basis. RTCA committees provide an open forum whereby differing views can be heard and consensus reached. Appointed members of the RTCA Policy Board, Program Management Committee, and Steering Committees, and Chairpersons of Special Committees, serve as representative members, representing a particular interest by virtue of his/her employment, education, experience or affiliation with a special group, industry, or organization. Committee members serving in appointed positions are required to complete DOT Form 1120.1, Advisory Committee Candidate Biographical Information Request. Designated Federal Officials for the ATMAC Steering and Special Committees work with the committee chairpersons to ensure appropriate balance of representation for the members of these committees.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

There is no specific schedule for the frequency of RTCA advisory committee meetings. The meetings are results oriented and dictated by the complexity of the technical issue being studied. Committees meet periodically to review and evaluate progress and efforts are concluded when final results are achieved. The RTCA Program Management Committee meetings are held as required to initiate new tasks, review the status, timeliness, and quality of current efforts and/or results of completed special committee activities.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The United States National Airspace System must be modernized to accommodate the accelerating demand for aviation services. RTCA is working closely with the FAA in developing the Next Generation Air Traffic Management (NextGen) system. Recognized nationally and internationally as an authoritative forum to advance the art and science of aviation, RTCA provides an environment unique in the aviation community which fosters and permits Government and industry collaboration on the significant technical and operational challenges to be overcome in the modernization process. RTCA's consensus-based recommendations are developed in a public forum and routinely form the basis for FAA regulatory guidance and standards, as well as for strategic planning. No other organization currently exists that can offer these collaborative opportunities in a public setting free of vested interests.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

N/A

21. Remarks

The Radio Technical Commission for Aeronautics was organized in June 1935 on the initiative of the Department of Commerce and was incorporated on November 14, 1991, and its name was changed to RTCA, Inc. RTCA, Inc. is a private, not-for-profit corporation that serves as the collective voice of the aviation community and is utilized by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) as a Federal Advisory Committee. RTCA, Inc. has over 400 domestic and international government agencies, aviation industry associations, companies, and academic institutions. Through this membership, RTCA develops consensus-based recommendations on contemporary operational, technology, policy, procedural, and equipage issues, principally related to implementation of Communication, Navigation, Surveillance (CNS) and Air Traffic Management (ATM) operational capabilities. As in previous years, payment to RTCA remains at $380,000 for FY 2009.

Narrative Description

RTCA, Inc develops consensus and provides recommendations on aviation standards. These products serve as the basis for many FAA Technical Standard Orders and Advisory Circulars as well as a source of guidance for Government and Industry standards and investment decisions. RTCA seeks solutions to problems involving applied electronics, computers, and telecommunications to aeronautical operations and also develops recommended operational concepts. Air Traffic Management Advisory Committee(ATMAC)meeting along with various Special Committee (SC) and Program Management Committee (PMC) meetings are held yearly to conduct the work of RTCA for the benefit of the FAA and its members. The results of these meetings are a variety of publications, guidance, and standards used by the FAA and its members in the aviation community. These products and reports are available at the RTCA website: www.rtca.org for purchase. The ATMAC is the primary group that the FAA's Chief Operating Officer (COO) relies upon for customer input, information and recommendations to the FAA. The Air Traffic Management Advisory Committee recommends consensus-based investment priorities aimed at improving safety, capacity and/or efficiency of the National Air Transportation System. Aviation operational requirements, coupled with anticipated availability of financial resources are fundamental criteria upon which ATM Advisory Committee deliberates and proposes recommendations.

Number of Recommendations Comments

Recommendations were made by several special committees in 2009. Of particular note is the recommendations by the NextGen Mid-Term Implementation Task Force in 2009. The report on these recommendations was made available to the FAA September 9, 2009 and is now available on the RTCA website: www.rtca.org. These operational capability recommendations cover a variety of ATM issues among which are recommendations to improved surface traffic management ,increase runway access, relieve metroplex congestion, improve efficiency of cruise operations, and a variety of other areas. These recommendations range from policy level actions to facilitate the evolution of a sustainable/affordable air traffic control system to technical performance standards. They serve as the basis for government and industry investment and service trade-off decision as well as many FAA Technical Standards Orders and Advisory Circulars.
