20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The purpose of the Commission was to consider how best to improve our system of higher education to ensure that our graduates are well prepared to meet our future workforce needs and are able to participate fully in the changing global economy. The Commission conducted meetings in different parts of the country to obtain a public discussion of issues facing the challenges of improving our current higher education system to better prepare our students to address the economic and workforce needs of the country.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

Representatives on the commission included former and/or current public and private college presidents, former elected officials, public and private college presidents from around the country, and representatives from business and financial services industries.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

The commission held no meetings in FY07.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The Secretary felt this issue needed a national dialogue to analyze this issue and prepare recommendations in a report to her by September, 2006. The Department needed to hear from various groups around the country on how to best improve higher education.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

N/A

21. Remarks

This Commission's charter states that the membership will not exceed 20 members, but the commission currently has only 19 members. The Commission's report was submitted to the Secretary on 9/13/06. The commission has concluded its work.

Designated Federal Officer

Cheryl Oldham Executive Director

Narrative Description

The Commission's purpose was to study the current US system of higher education and develop a strategy for maintaining a system that meets the needs of our diverse population, and in particular the needs of traditionally underserved communities, provides enhanced opportunities for lifelong learning and addresses the economic and workforces needs of the country. This goal is entirely consistent with the mission of the Department of Education to ensure equal access to education and to promote educational excellence throughout the nation.
