20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

Sixteen RACS for the Southern Region were established in 2003 to provide advice and recommendations for the Secretary's consideration and develop collaborative relationships to and with the Forest Service. Three RACs are currently active. Each RAC reviews projects proposed under Title II of the Secure Rural Schools and Community Self-Determination Act and provides opportunities for early and continuous coordination to RAC members and the public. Each RAC may create and maintain approved subcommittees and may adopt rules of operation.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

Each RAC consists of 15 members that are pulled from 3 categories:1: 5 who represent organized labor, developed outdoor recreation, off-highway vehicle users, commercial recreation activities, energy and mineral development interest, commercial timber industry, or hold Federal land use permits.2: 5 who represent nationally, regionally or locally recognized environmental organizations, dispersed recreational activities, archaeological and historical interests, or nationally or regionally recognized wild horse and burro interest groups.3: 5 who hold State, county or local elected office, represent American Indian tribes, are school officials or teachers, or represent the affected public-at-large.Members serve for 3 years and are required to fill and abide by all requirements stated within the charter.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

Estimated Number of Meetings per Year - 4
Estimated Total Meetings per RAC to which members have been appointed (approximately 12)

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

These committees are essential to meet the requirements of the Secure Rural Schools and Community Self-Determination Act of 2000 if an eligible county chooses to participate in the payments to states program and to set aside funds from its payments for Title II projects (projects on national forests). Not only do the committees open relationships, but they open opportunities for parties to participate in project development. These RACs consist of members who are resident of the State in which the forest is located and are mostly composed of members that are affected by the decisions of the committees. A first hand view and opinion is, therefore, given.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

Meetings are open.

21. Remarks

The Committee Management Secretariat recommended that without legislation in hand this committee needed to be reported as terminated for FY07. Agency may bring this committee back in FY08 on its own authority if legislation is not forthcoming. Because of the costs reported the number of FTE for this committee was reduced from 10 to 1.

Narrative Description

This Resource Advisory Committee (RAC) is mandated by Congress, under section 205 of P.L. 106-393, the Secure Rural Schools and Community Self-Determination Act of 2000. The Committee was established for two purposes: (1) to improve collaborative relationships among the people who use and care for the National Forests and the Forest Service, which manages the lands; and (2) to provide advice and recommendations to the Forest Service in identifying and implementing broadly supported land management projects that maintain existing infrastructure, enhance forest ecosystems, and improve land health and water quality. The RAC directly supports the agency's mission goal for ecosystem health: to promote ecosystem health and conservation using a collaborative approach to sustain the Nation's forests, grasslands, and watersheds. This law provides a mechanism for local community collaboration with federal land managers in recommending projects to be conducted on federal lands or that will benefit resources on federal lands. PL 106-393 is crucial to rural counties for their long-term success; both for schools and their role in helping devise key projects for the health of the land (through RAC work). RACs have fostered a solid working partnership, between forests and their county leaders as well as among RAC members. In the Southern Region there are three active Resource Advisory Committees under P.L. 106-393.
