20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

In FY 2004, IFAC 4 played an active role in advising the U.S. Government on negotiating objectives and priorities to address the numerous international issues affecting the development and growth of electronic commerce. The wide range of policy issues that they provided advice on were electronic commerce within the WTO, customs duties on electronic transmissions, transborder data transfers and privacy protection, access to telecommunications networks, electronic ordering and delivery of services, consumer protection, spam, EU VAT on electronic commerce, and Internet taxation, and legal issues, such as electronic authentication, jurisdiction, and liability.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

IFAC 4 is reasonably well-balanced between members who represent a broad spectrum of electronic commerce industries, including small, medium, and large companies. The committee also has representatives from associations who represent various trade sectors, not just the information technology industry. IFAC 4 would benefit from additional expertise and representation from minority-owned electronic commerce companies.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

The committee meets approximately four times a year. However, the actual number of meetings is dictated by Government need for private sector advice. The U.S. Government will be engaged in multilateral and bilateral trade policy initiatives including Asia - Pacific Economic Cooperation, Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development issues, World Trade Organization Ministerial and Free Trade Agreements. The advice the Government receives from the private sector through the advisory committees will be an ongoing process and will be an intrinsic part of developing U.S. positions for all policy negotiations.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The committee structure ensures a unique source of information to the Government. All members have security clearances and through continuing dialogue with Government officials are made aware of Government trade policy at a level not otherwise available to the private sector. Because the committee remains current in the broad spectrum of trade policy rather than a single facet—as would be the case in the absence of a committee structure—the private sector input from the committee is more pertinent. The advisory committee program, legislatively mandated, is the single formal comprehensive consultative link between the U.S. Government and U.S. industry and has the responsibility to address all issues concerning trade policy.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

The Industry Consultations Program was established by the Trade Act of 1974 and in accordance with the Federal Advisory Committee Act (FACA). Subsection 135(f) of the Trade Act provides that the IFACs shall be exempt from the provisions of the FACA relating to open meetings, public notice, public participation, and public availability of documents when it is determined that the proceedings would, if disclosed, seriously compromise the Government's negotiating objectives or bargaining positions regarding trade policy matters. IFAC meetings routinely involve these kinds of discussions. The United States Trade Representative (USTR) evaluates each meeting agenda and issues a Notice of Determination when it is necessary to close meetings.

Narrative Description

IFAC-4 plays an active role in advising the USG on negotiating objectives and priorities to address the numerous international policy issues affecting the development and growth of the digital economy and e-commerce. In FY04, the committee provided advice on e-commerce within the WTO, free trade agreements, customs duties on e-transmissions, transborder data transfers and privacy protection, and access to telecommunications networks. The committee provided final reports on the CAFTA, Morocco and Dominican Republic FTAs, and input to the WTO Cancun Ministerial.

Does the agency provide the committee with feedback regarding actions taken to implement recommendations or advice offered?

Yes No Not Applicable

Agency Feedback Comments

Most feedback is rendered orally during IFAC-4 meetings. When written advice is sent to the Secretary of Commerce and the USTR, it is reviewed by their policy staff and tasked to appropriate ITA units to prepare draft responses. DOC internal procedures require that all responses for Secretarial signature go through a concurrence process.

What other actions has the agency taken as a result of the committee's advice or recommendation?

Checked if Applies

- Reorganized Priorities
- Reallocated resources
- Issued new regulation
- Proposed legislation
- Approved grants or other payments
- Other

Action Comments

DOC and USTR officials have utilized recommendations provided by IFAC-4 when formulating policy and position papers.
